*But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, patience,
kindness, goodness, faithfulness,
gentleness and self-control.
Against such things there is no law.*

ACROSS Overview

ACROSS is a Christian organization founded in 1972 by four mission societies: Africa Inland Mission (AIM), Sudan United Mission (SUM), Serving In Mission (SIM), and Mission Aviation Fellowship (MAF). Based in South Sudan, we work with partners and communities to provide humanitarian and developmental programs in areas of protection, shelter, health, livelihoods, peace, capacity building, education, and an integrated response to refugee care. The heartbeat of ACROSS is a Christ-centred, holistic approach in partnership with the local church.

Over the years, ACROSS has gone through a number of transitions in response to the changing conditions in South Sudan. Our continuous service of more than 45 years has given ACROSS a wonderful heritage in the nation, and a strong reputation with our partners.

For our staff, ACROSS has been the platform where many South Sudanese have become mature Christian professionals. They have often gone on to hold major responsibilities and strategic positions in the South Sudan government, church, and society at large.

Over the decades, including during years of war, ACROSS has remained present and responsive to the needs of those we serve. By so doing, we have built goodwill among the many communities we serve. We are known for our special and valuable partnership with local churches in South Sudan, and are often able to collaborate with the local church as an agent of change and a hub of social activity in the community.

As we reflect on the year 2018 and what it means to be ACROSS working in South Sudan, we can celebrate many good things that have been accomplished: the nation has celebrated a new peace agreement, we have completed many projects, helped many people, and added new members to our team. Yet, we have not been without challenges, including the tragic loss of a team member, a reduced budget, and an unstable economy.

Now, perhaps more than ever, is the time for ACROSS to remain resilient and relentless as we overcome challenges and strive toward our vision of Christ-centred, holistic transformation of communities in South Sudan and beyond. It is with this attitude that we now look forward to 2019, which marks the beginning of our 5-year strategic planning cycle, during which we will celebrate our 50th anniversary.

2018 Project Activities

ACROSS implemented more than 30 projects and programs in 2018 covering a variety of sectors: health, nutrition, WASH, education, food securities & livelihoods, camp management, integrated response, peace and reconciliation and more. Ongoing programs included Participatory Awakening Process (PAP), children’s ministry, sports ministry, and a variety of media activities.

Since the crisis of 2016, ACROSS has really begun to expand the “South Sudan and beyond” portion of our mission with more and more activities taking place in the refugee camps in northern Uganda. All of our printed media ministry is now located in Arua, Uganda and many new and expanding ministries are developing in the camps.

In recognition of ACROSS’ ability to serve in challenging and remote areas, ACROSS has been appointed by UNHCR as the Deep Field Humanitarian Focal Point for greater Boma region. This means that we coordinate cluster activities and emergency response for all organizations serving in Boma.

ACROSS strives to honour God in each and every project and program, but not every project allows a direct Gospel focus. While we see all of our work as ministry, only those programs with a specific and direct Gospel focus are labelled with the ministry icon. Other projects serve as ministry of compassion.

Participatory Awakening Process

The Participatory Awakening Process (PAP), is designed to mobilize communities and churches to design, plan, implement, and evaluate their development process as they work towards their preferred future. PAP facilitates communities to “discover” who they are, and their potential, and to envision their destiny as a vibrant part of the Kingdom of God. After developing a vision they then determine how to achieve their goals.

PAP was introduced by ACROSS in Lainya in 2018 following the security improvement in the area. The 2016 crisis in South Sudan had led to destruction of physical infrastructures in greater Yei River State. Schools, households, and Churches have all been destroyed by the conflict. PAP, as a sustainable community development tool, is helping to revive progress, and hope. Unfortunately, peace did not hold in the Yei region and the project has faced challenges related to security.

The ultimate goal of PAP in Lainya is To Awaken 4 local Churches to understand and apply their Biblical mandate for holistic ministry to their immediate communities.

In spite of challenges, the project has engaged with churches from a variety of denominational backgrounds. There are now 23 participants, known as Awakeners, in the program who have attended the first two trainings. They come from the Roman Catholic Church, Sudan Pentecostal Church, and the Episcopal Church of South Sudan. Leaders from the Church of God also plan to participate.

Children's Ministry

Work began with monitoring and meetings in our new operation zones of Rhino Refugee Camp Settlement (RS) in Uganda. We conducted several trainings targeting 195 Children Ministry (CM) workers and Women leaders - 135 participants in 4 zones of Rhino camp (Omugo, Ocea, Eden & Siripi) and 60 participants in Imvepi & Swuinga camps.

Sunday School teachers dramatically improved their skills, leading to increased Bible content now supplementing what had typically been just singing. Sunday Schools expanded in size as interest grew. Trauma identification and healing among beneficiary children was addressed. The ACROSS Children Ministry Officer and helpers are now much sought after as trainers.

"New Hope: Multiplying healing to wounded hearts" is the name given to an effective trauma healing approach introduced to our Senior Children's Ministry worker by an American group visiting Arua in August 2018. It is proving to be a very powerful tool in the northwest Uganda refugee camps. Though not only intended for women, the ACROSS team currently trains mainly women community leaders and Mother's Union groups to channel the trauma healing to families. In the process the trainees are themselves being healed.

Peace and Reconciliation

ACROSS has implemented projects in Jebel Boma County since the 1990's. In recent years ACROSS began the second phase of a project called "Promoting Peaceful Co-Existence and Access to Education among Communities in Jebel Boma County". Since the implementation of this project, which focuses on dialogue and establishing community leaders as ambassadors of peace, many communities have reported a reduction in raiding and violence. In 2018, more than 2,300 people in Jebel Boma County participated directly in peace dialogue, and over 11,000 people were exposed to messages of peace through the community peace leaders.

Recognizing that all people in the community have an interest in peace, ACROSS strives to engage various members in healthy activities that promote positive relationships between neighbouring people. One example of this is youth football. Pictured here is the second annual Play for Peace football tournament with more than 100 total participants playing on four teams. Participants reported that this year's games had an improved atmosphere of sportsmanship and healthy competition.

Youth also gathered to engage in peace dialogues.

This is an important aspect of the programme because it is often the youth in an area who conduct raiding attacks. By acknowledging the challenges and seeking alternatives, these youth are making positive strides toward a peaceful South Sudan for future generations to come.

Sports Ministry

Organized sports can play a significant role in positive youth engagement where life lessons like communication, healthy competition, sportsmanship, and teamwork are put into practice. The ACROSS Sports Ministry programme operates on a limited basis in three refugee camps. More funding for this project would have immediate and direct improvement in programming and behaviour change for young people.

Even with limited funding, we were able to conduct a training for coaches, referees, team captains, and other leaders, as well as host a behaviour change workshop for players while having a tournament at the end of the season.

Media

The ACROSS Media Department works with partners such as Dan Church Aid (DCA), Pioneer Australia, World Vision, and Christian Aid (CA) to develop, translate, record, and disseminate messages of peace and reconciliation to some of the most remote regions of South Sudan.

The church in South Sudan has historically played an influential role in resolving conflicts, reconciling parties, and building trust and confidence between communities. ACROSS Media has joined with the South Sudan Council of Churches to use Digital Audio Players (DAPs) to communicate messages regarding gender-based violence, and peace and reconciliation. To help move the peace building activities forward ACROSS, with support from Christian Aid, implemented a pilot project called “Action Plan for Peace and Gender Based Violence” using digital audio players as a messenger of peace. This project is currently underway with messages being recorded for distribution.

Training listening group leaders in the cattle camp

Additionally, ACROSS has developed a chaplaincy training program for the South Sudan Armed Forces which covers topics such as: personal spiritual growth, duty of a soldier to defend the nation and not exceed his mandate, coping with the trauma of war experiences and personal failures, coping with the loss of loved ones by atrocities during the war, not driving them to use their weapons beyond the call of duty, staying sexually faithful with their partners, being sober and of good character, generally meeting life's difficulties (both those faced by all men and those because of their unique lifestyle), and building positive relationships within the army community as well as with the outside civilian populations.

The Media department also produces quality programs for airing over the radio, as well as having developed teacher training material for reaching of teachers in remote areas.

Script writing, recording, editing and DAP formatting were done from Juba office and field activities conducted in various targeted places. New programs for peace were developed and recorded. DAP trainings and distribution were done as planned. Below are the more comprehensive activities conducted in the ACROSS Juba office and targeted places/locations in 2018.

- Approx. 8,686 members (4,165 female) of communities in Jonglei (Bor South, Twic East and Duk) and Terekeka reached with peace building and social education messages through FM Radio programme.
- Two radio talk shows conducted in Jonglei Peace FM and Liberty FM in Juba to get listeners feedback on peace building and social education initiatives
- 80 peace building and social education messages recorded in four languages (Dinka, Nuer, Bari and Murle) edited and downloaded into 320 DAPs.
- 320 DAP listening groups formed in 27 cattle camps in Jonglei, (Bor south, Twic East and Duk), Pibor and Terekeka and 01 blocks in Bor POC.
- 6,399 participants (2,873 female) trained on how to use DAPs in 27 cattle camps, 01 POC block in Bor including government representatives.
- Participants comprising of chiefs, youth leaders and women leaders trained on peace building and social education initiatives at grass root level in all the project locations.

Health

Health programmes are integrated into a variety of projects—specifically refugee care, nutrition, and media. The media team records health related topics in local languages to distribute on the digital audio players and to our partner radio stations. Additionally, ACROSS is the health referral desk for all refugees in the greater Juba area. We also operate the ambulance service that transports refugees. Other health initiatives are integrated with nutrition and WASH programmes throughout South Sudan, including immunization programmes.

WASH

Water, Sanitation and Hygiene (WASH) is another cross-cutting programme that is integrated in multiple projects. In 2018, ACROSS was able to renovate wells in Boma, distribute menstrual hygiene kits in Rumbek, and teach countless workshops in nearly every location we serve.

Well Rehabilitation in Kapoeta East

Nutrition

In partnership with WFP, UNICEF, UNHCR, and the State Ministry of Health, ACROSS provides nutritional intervention to malnourished children under five years of age, supplementary feeding to pregnant and lactating women and institutional feeding to people living with chronic illnesses of HIV/AIDS and TB in Lainya, Yei and Morobo. In 2018, more than 32,000 people were screened through the ACROSS Nutrition Project. Of those, more than 1200 children under the age of 5 were treated for acute malnutrition, including 115 needing care at the Stabilization Centre. More than 800 pregnant and lactating women received support as well as almost 3000 members of households with a person suffering from chronic illness.

The project also provided individual and group counselling on infant and child nutrition to more than 14,000 individuals in 2018. This counselling serves to prevent malnutrition by informing mothers of their children's nutritional needs. One common practice is for mothers, like the one pictured left, to feed their babies black tea. Through counselling and educational programs, mothers learn how to feed and care for their children.

The nutrition project's emphasis is on Community Based Management of Acute malnutrition (CMAM) and Maternal Infant Young Child Nutrition (MIYCN) while integrating WASH components like the distribution of soap and dissemination of basic WASH messages to the project beneficiaries in collaboration with WASH partners.

Education

Technical Vocation Education Training (TVET)

The EMPOWER Project is a concerted effort of a consortium of agencies funded by the European Union for the strengthening civil society and enhancing Technical and Vocational Education and Training (TVET) for youth employment. The project seeks to address the needs of displaced and vulnerable persons in the urban environment through providing skills and vocational training.

TVET Solar Power Students

There are a total of 120 students in the ACROSS TVET program—30 in each vocational track: auto mechanic, building and construction, catering and hospitality, and solar power. Students have a blend of classroom studies and practical application in each program, and are assessed along the way. At the end of phase one, students are placed in an ‘industrial attachment’ to complete an internship in their given track.

The catering students have started a restaurant on the ACROSS compound which is open to the public for lunch each weekday. The hope is that the restaurant will enable this programme to be sustainable for future cohorts.

Education in Emergencies

The Education in Emergencies project addresses the issue of access to basic quality education, one of the significant challenges facing South Sudan. It is estimated that about half of all school aged children in South Sudan have dropped out of school, or never started. The situation is compounded by the ongoing conflict which has forced many children and young people out of school. Jonglei and Lakes states are significantly suffering from inadequate learning infrastructure, lack of teaching and learning materials, poor quality of teachers, and a weak local education governance capacity.

The main aim of the project is to improve access to inclusive quality education for conflict affected children and youth in South Sudan. Significant progress has been made in the achievement of set objectives, outputs and targets. The programme has contributed to improving access to equitable, safe and protective learning opportunities for children and out of school youth. In addition, the programme has improved the quality of the learning and teaching environment and education governance through training activities for volunteer teachers, school inspectors, supervisors, education officials, and school governing bodies.

ACROSS conducts teacher training and education project in a number of locations around South Sudan, like this one pictured in Boma. Like many rural areas, there are few teachers in Boma County and most of them work as volunteers. ACROSS provides teacher training for primary school teachers, and the participants report an improvement in the students’ test scores. Pictured here are 58 volunteer primary school teachers in an ACROSS training session.

Pibor Secondary School re-opened: the education in emergencies programme supported the Boma State government in re-opening Pibor Secondary School. The re-opening of the secondary school has provided an opportunity to primary school leavers in Pibor to access secondary education. This is the only secondary school in the region.

Mobile Teacher Training in Pochalla and Pibor has also begun to show improvement in the access to quality education. Though this area experiences significant challenges in teacher training, community attitudes to inclusive education, and logistics; the program was able to continue on target for the year. Several teacher trainings were held in both locations as well as implementation of school fun days and supply distribution.

Food Securities & Livelihoods

The Food Assistance and Early Livelihood Support project is aimed at alleviating the grave humanitarian situation in Lainya County of Central Equatoria and Kapoeta East County of Eastern Equatoria. Lainya County was selected because most of the population was affected by massive displacement due to recurring serious clashes between warring factions during 2016- 2018. Kapoeta East County was selected because it was severely affected by drought. These circumstances in Lainya and Kapoeta, coupled with worsening economic crisis and lack of humanitarian partners on the ground in both areas, resulted in acute levels of food insecurity for local populations. The project came in at the time when communities were in desperate need of support. The food rations helped alleviate hunger, especially to the most vulnerable people who benefited from the food assistance. One of the beneficiaries from the Kauto Plateaus in Kapoeta East County narrated how the food assistance helped her and her children narrowly survive from starvation.

In this project ACROSS had a component of training of farmers to build their capacity in basic agronomic practices. We selected the farmers who had basic literacy skills to participate in the training as Role-Model Farmers, with the idea that they would then go on to support the other farmers in their community (who may have been illiterate and might not have been able to participate in the training), through oral coaching and physical demonstrations of the farming methods. In the trainings, we incorporated some disaster risk mitigation strategies: introducing new crop types that are resistant to disease and weather conditions; knowledge about crop diseases and the timing of diseases; and adopting early maturing crops, which would help mitigate risks associated with pest outbreaks and short rainfall patterns. This training content with the model of farmer-to-farmer coaching was delivered in the hope that the farmers would adopt more productive farming methods, while and supporting each other to be more resilient against climatic shocks in future growing seasons.

Integrated Response

Integrated Response Refugee Care

While many South Sudanese have been internally displaced from their traditional homes, others in surrounding countries have come to South Sudan to seek refuge. The need for refugee care in South Sudan is a tragic outcome of instability and unrest in neighbouring countries. ACROSS seeks to provide care in a manner which honours each person with human dignity—even when they are at their most vulnerable.

ACROSS joins hands with UNHCR to provide refugee care through the Integrated Response programme. The aim is to address assistance and protection needs of more than 2000 refugees in Gorom Refugee settlement, Central Equatoria State and urban refugees in Juba. We strive to increase access to basic rights, promote self-reliance and enhance dignified living among Persons of Concern (PoC).

Areas of service include:

- education
- health
- shelter
- water, sanitation and hygiene promotion (WASH)
- emergency medical transport and ambulance service

ACROSS also operates the medical referral desk supports referrals for refugees coming from different refugee camps in the country and provides logistic support, facilitates accommodation in the medical safe house and follow up of their treatment and feeding. There are also protection cases to be supported at protection wing of the medical safe house.

This project also targets the urban refugees in provision of education for 400 urban refugee children dwelling in Juba for primary education and 150 students for secondary school.

Rumbek Integrated Response

ACROSS implements integrated programming in Rumbek and Rumbek East Counties to address issues related to primary health care, education and community led initiatives in WASH and livelihoods.

- 10 GEM clubs and 10 sports teams were formed in 10 primary schools for 2018.
- 10 life skills clubs and 10 peace planting clubs were formed in 10 primary schools for 2018
- PTA and Micro-finance groups formed.
- Provide weekly community outreach programs on basic health promotions: immunizations, awareness of gender-based violence, and nutrition.
- WASH interventions are introduced in 3 villages with a goal to construct 150 pit latrines using community led total sanitation methods.
- Peace ambassadors (PAS) groups are formed and trained to detect and initiate community peace dialogues to advocate the use of non- violence means to resolved conflicts
- Strengthened and improved maternal and child health and awareness on disease prevention and promotion in Rumbek East
- Empowered Community leaders and local systems to engage youths and government agents to restore peace

Sudan Literature Centre

ACROSS provides printing services and book production through the Sudan Literature Centre (SLC) which printed more than 16,400 books in 2018. SLC has the capacity to print books and covers in colour as well as in black and white. New equipment has been added to improve the quality and types of books that can be produced.

Mini-Libraries

Old stock of SLC books printed 10 to 20 years ago were transferred from Nairobi to Arua in March 2018. This included school textbooks, church books (including training for church leaders), wall charts, and the 'Footsteps' basic rural development magazines. 3,884 items were then divided into 50 piles, averaging 75 items each. 32 mini-library sets were assembled and supplied to churches (one set each) in refugee settlements where ACROSS conducts Children's Ministry and Sports for Peace projects. In this way, the general knowledge and reading skills of refugees will improve. 18 additional libraries will be supplied in 2019 to bring the total to 50 mini libraries.

Teachers receive and learn the use of SLC books

Sunday school teachers now know how to teach children using the preparation guidelines, story-telling techniques, and can develop a lesson plan from the curriculum books. They know the six principles in working with and teaching children: Teach one truth at a time; teach for a life-change; teach from the heart; teach through experience; teach according to the needs; and teach with variety).

All the churches we had given previous training to (before the books) in the camps of Ofua, Omugo, Imvepi, Bidibidi 2, Ocea, and Eden, are now teaching children in their churches with great impact on Sundays. Some even doing teachings midweek. And the numbers of children increased from 40 to over 100 in some of the Sunday Schools.

The Sunday Schools in Omugo camp admitted they were not teaching children in their churches, but were rather only running a Sunday School choir. But on April 18th, things changed dramatically. Sunday School is happening now everywhere in these churches and homes.

Children's behaviour has dramatically changed from bad to good. There was also improvement in personal hygiene practices because ACROSS also trains them to look after their bodies.

Financial Overview

ACROSS relies on project funders to continue work in South Sudan. Just as the projects we implement are varied and vast, so too are those who support them. We are grateful to each of our project partners for making 2018 a successful and impactful year under very challenging circumstances.
